What are fobots ?

Fobots , or “Future Organic Blueprints Of The Soul” , are complex graphic designs that communicate directly with our collective subconsciousness , giving us a sense of understanding of – and being one with – the world around us . They are often based on ancient symbols and icons , and then restyled with modern graphic techniques .

How do fobots work ?

Fobots activate the so called “sleeping “ parts of our soul by triggering them with a cocktail of ancient and universal symbolic designs that pre-exist in every human’s spirit . Where this collective and symbolic language originates from remains largely unknown , but many different aspects of this technique can be found in artwork , commercials and religions of all times and spaces . Some designs make us awake , some make us relax , while others give us interesting visions , dreams or insights . A true fobots however will combine all these experiences into one powerful new state of being that balances all aspects of this subconscious language into what we call “the ultimate fobots experience” .

What is the mandala-corporation ?

The mandala-corporation was originally founded by Dan Lama and Shai de la Luna , basically as a fun way to kill some time while they were stuck on this planet . Almost by accident they discovered the power of fobots . They patented the name and the concept , and within a few decades their hobby project became the biggest and most powerful multi-national of the known universe .

What does the mandala-corporation do ?

The mandala-corporation is controlling the copyrights and the distribution of fobots throughout the galaxy . Almost every branch of modern society , like education , advertising , spirituality , recreation , science , communication , politics , etc ... heavily rely on fobots , and the mandala-corporation is supervising the good use of fobots .

Can fobots be used in a negative way ?

Theoretically they could , and the results can be devastating . In the 20th century on planet earth for example , a small guy with a mustache took a peaceful universal swastika symbol to promote his sick ideas about creating the ideal society , and caused a lot of trouble with it . That's why the mandala-corporation is so eager to control the distribution of fobots . Every request for a license is screened now for potential abuse , and many mandala-corporation agents inspect the daily use of fobots in the field . Luckily the positive and healing power of fobots is so strong that it spreads like a virus , and very few trespassers have been detected so far . Once affected by positive fobots , one can simply not see the benefits anymore of using fobots in a negative way .

What is a mandala ?

A mandala is a circular design used for meditation , made by earth budhists . Mandalas can be seen as a kind of very primitive pre-historic fobots . The budhists got pretty close to a global fobots experience , although they made a few essential design errors , unfortunately resulting in them never reaching the enlightened state of being they so badly longed for . But they got close , they really did ... and as a tribute to the early budhists and so nobody would ever forget how it all started , we use the word "mandala" in our corporate name .

What happened to your mandala clothing collection ?

We completely sold out , and it was such a drag organizing the production and the distribution that we decided to stop this activity altogether . There's only so much you can do in life , and making and selling shirts was quiet simply not on top of our list . You can still have a look at our collection here .

Are you guys really from outer space ?

Well , it's all a matter of perspective , you see : from our point of view YOU are all from outer space , so let's just say that in this infinitely wide cosmos , EVERYBODY is from outer space !
